VALEDICTORY!

Mr. Kyles, our most efficient printer here at Barium, has just reminded me that another month has rolled around, and that it is time again for another column for the Barium Messenger.

What I shall write this month is sort of Valedictory, for it is the last contribution I shall have the the privilege of making to the Messenger. It has been a real pleasure, doing this little stint each month, and I want to thank those of you who have been good enough to write me regarding my poor offering. I wish I could type in this final column, all that is in my heart, and I wish I could use words that would adequately express to you the thoughts that are now crowding my mind.

I am thinking mostly of the more than three hundred boys and girls here in this home; this home made possible through the generous gifts of the Presbyterians of the Synod of North Carolina. During my ministry in the midst of the Barium boys and girls, I have learned to love them, almost as my very own, and while I am looking forward eagerly to my new work, I am saddened at the thought of leaving them behind. I must confess that it is with genuine reluctance that I make my departure. I had hoped when I came to Barium, and that hope has grown with the years, that I might spend all my days ministering to these boys and girls, but God has ordered otherwise. I desire, therefore, in this last message to you to make a plea for them.

Don't forget them! Continue praying for them each day; for their matrons, teachers, workers, and all those here who are charged

LEES COTTAGE

School will soon be out and will we be glad?

We have a new boy in our cottage, his name is Charles Skipper. He came from Wilmington. He is in the fourth grade.

We will be glad when summer is here and we can go swimming.

We have just come in from work because it's raining and we can play the rest of the day. We work on the truck farm.

We went to the show not long ago to see "Tarzan".

We have been playing softball and we sure do have a good time.

The seniors gave a play last night and it was grand.

It won't be long till some of the boys move to another cottage and smaller boys will move to our cottage.

—Jerry Innis.

INFIRMARY

Here at the Infirmary we have been having several cases of "Pink Eyes" but except for that we have had very little sickness.

Our matron, Mrs. McNatt, had a visit from her daughter, Miss Rachel McNatt, and we enjoyed having her, the few days that she spent with us.

Miss Frances O'Kelly has been sick and has gone away for a few weeks rest. We hope she will soon be back with us.

Two of our girls made the honor roll this month. They were Lucile Smith and Jean McDonald.

We only have a few more weeks of school and we are eagerly waiting on the end.

Recently we have taken in several new children. They are Therman Andrews, Gene ,Jimmy, Margaret and Carolyn Hucks, Edward, Jeanette and Tommy Lane, Charles and Edith Skipper, Carl Spices, and Edsel Jerry and Richard McArthur.

Good-by until next month.

—The Infirmary Girls.

HOWARD COTTAGE

We forgot to write you last month, but we are back now with lots of things to tell you.

All of the Grammar grades have given a play for the past five weeks. We enjoyed them very much. Last night we went to the Senior play, "Aunt Letty's Niece." It was really a good play and we surely enjoyed it.

It won't be long until school will be out and then we can start going barefooted and going in swimming.

One of our girls, Peggy Ann Collins, who was at the Infirmary with three broken toes, has come back to our cottage. It is nice to have her back. We hope Betty Ann Andrews will soon come home. She has been down there in bed for a long time and would love for all of you to go down and see her.

We haven't had much warm weather, and it is almost the middle of May. Maybe it will soon turn warm - we hope so.

Well, it won't be long until the beans will start coming in. We don't so much like to string them, but we surely can eat them in a hurry.

That's all the news for this time but we'll see you again next month.

—The Bean Stringers.

ANNIE LOUISE COTTAGE

We are looking forward to vacation which is not so far off now. We are planning to have great times this summer.

The Board of Regents are visiting us this week and we are glad to have them as our guests. We are to have the birthday table today in their honor.

Carol Jean Andrews recited the Catechism this month.

Last week some people from Mooresville sent us some cookies and we had a nice party.

We are making improvements in our cottage each day.

Some of our members will leave this summer and go to Howard, others will take their places. We will miss these old friends, but it is also nice to welcome the new ones.

Many of us will take part in the Chapel program at school Friday morning. This is the last one of the year and we hope everyone will enjoy it. The play is The Wedding of Jack and Jill.

—Annie Louise Girls.

BABY COTTAGE

Won't you please sit down and play with us? We're all sitting on the nice warm green grass and we're playing "Three Bears". Guess who the bears are? Well, they're sitting on a bench close by - "Mommie" (Mrs. Massey, 'cause she's the Big Bear, Miss Mc'um (Miss Whitener, 'cause she's middle size) and "Yiddie" (Miss Bryant) 'cause she's the little bear.

Every time we're naughty a bear growls, and some times all three at one time. If you'll listen close you might hear them. Our big sisters are here too - Myrtle Rushing, Virgina Presnell, Helen Morgan and Dorothy Plummer, and twenty four little girls and boys. Don't you think we're a big family?

Now we may not get all the little pig tails turned up and down at the right time and place every time, but we are not even in the first grade, so maybe you won't mind.

"My Daddy just won't write to me", said Susie Truelove, and Loretta Katen consoles her. "Don't you know why? He's in Germany, and they don't have pencils, paper and nothin."

"I know its summer now, 'cause bugs, snakes and worms are crawlin", chimes in Mary Rose Privette.

Donnie Harris: "Div me back my ittle yellow car, now I say!" Chas. Bowles hands it to him, "you're 'elfish". "I'se not 'elfish eifer, my Daddy dived it to me," so they both filled it with sand and the bears didn't growl.

with the tremendous responsibility of creating a home here that will afford each boy and girl committed to its care an opportunity to grow as did Jesus, "in wisdom, and in stature, and in favor with God and man." The creation of such a home means, not only your daily prayers, but continuation of your generosity that has been so magnificent through the years.

One last thought. Up until now, your memorial gifts, now being invested in war bonds and to be used when war restrictions have been lifted for the building of a new Church, have reached the grand total of $34,000.00. This fact gladdens my heart more than words can tell. I have prayed for and dreamed of this proposed new Church almost every moment of my ministry here. I know so well how badly such a structure is needed. Not only do we need a new Church, but we need, and we need it very, very much, adequate facilities for Christian Educational work. Only those who are trying to carry on our religious program at Barium know the handicaps under which we work. All of our Sunday Schools work has to be carried on in our day-school class rooms, with the exception of the older boys Bible class that meets in Little Joe's Church. I plead with you to keep sending in your memorial gifts. Hasten that day when through your continued generosity, the children here can receive all that a well equipped church plant can offer. Let us have enough funds to build a Church that will be not just a pile of bricks, but a structure so beautiful that if our children never hear a word spoken within its walls, they shall be given as they enter it an awareness of God. Help make my dream come true.

Thank you again for your loyal support of Barium - your prayers your letters, your interest shown in so many ways. Pray for me in my new work, and know that I shall be remembering you and your great Home at Barium each day before His throne of grace.

Donnie Privette: "Myrtle I don't love you any more, I like wild onions".

It is so nice and warm that Adrian Cochran, Billy Harrison, Jimmie Harris and Tommie Lane are rolling over and over on the grass. Ruby Truelove and Ruth Shepherd just will not sit still a minute.

You should see Walter Plyler, Cecil and Charles Shepherd, George Truelove, Jerry and Richy McArthur in their pretty new suits - they stand up and then march and act just like Gen. McArthur was looking right at them.

Little Tommie Lane ate so much birthday dinner - ice cream 'n things till he just went right to bed and asleep, saying: "I'se a dood little boy", and he is a dood little boy.

Charles Andrews is the big boy in his room and helps dress a baby. They keep him busy tying shoe strings. Charles likes to help.

Ralph Huddleston is growing so fast he will soon be a big boy.

Clyde Andrews is our little wiggler, but can he smile!

Marie McNeill is "little mother" and most dependable for a tot.

Patsy Dean likes to play with her doll, and little Jeanette Lane likes everything and everyone of us like chewing gum and candy.

Do hope we can soon go barefooted and wiggle our toes in the sand.

There's a little red bird flying 'round out here, and it tells on us too, 'specially if we're naughty and it tells the three bears, but it sings for us and we love it, and wouldn't hurt it for anything.

We're happy and it is getting time for bed, so goodnight!

—The Babies.

LUNATIC LEGACY

By Different Folks

CHAPTER THREE

Feeling sure that he was on the eve of a great discovery, Sam moved quickly in the direction in which he had seen the paper, but because of the darkness and dazed condition in which he then was, he stumbled and fell with great force, twisting his foot in the fall. The excruciating pain must have caused him to faint for the first thing he was conscious of, was that a great roaring one-eyed monster was rushing down upon him out of the darkness. By almost superhuman effort he managed to roll over to one side just as the through express train swept through the tunnel leaving him trembling with fright and exhaustion. It was several minutes before he could scramble to his feet but the cold water that was running over him from a fissue in the rock served to bring him back to a realization of where he was. By this time his eyes were accustomed to the darkness so that it was possible to see the blurred outline of objects. By grasping a jutting rock he was able to pull himself out of the ditch and ice cold water. There beside his hand was the piece of paper he had seen by the light of his match only a few minutes before, although it seemed like an age. That is was the same paper he recognized by its jagged outline. Of course he was all eagerness to read it but unfortunately he had used his last match.

What would he do? He would have to get out of the tunnel in order to get light. His foot, now that he was moving about, was paining him considerably and this tended to sober him and plan his exit more carefully than would otherwise have happened. By looking first in one direction and then in the other, he could see a faint glow in one direction but inky blackness in the other. Realizing this glow must be the nearer end of the tunnel he started in that direction, walking as best he could in the darkness and with a lame foot. Fortunately there was a fairly smooth footpath between the track and the wall of the tunnel and with exercise his foot began to feel better so that he made fairly good progress. Suddenly a deafening roar was heard behind him, and laying flat against the wall escaped injury from the long freight train that was rushing through to the valleys below. After this interruptioin he pushed on and in a short time came suddenly into the bright sunlight, for the sun was rising over the hills in the east.

Sam was now eager to see the slip of paper which he had in his pocket, but he was sore and his foot and bruises pained him so that he was thankful for a seat on the boulder in the warm sunshine. Now that he could read the paper he was afraid to read to find his fate, fearful of what it might or might not tell. Carefully drawing it from his pocket he saw that it roughly matched the paper in his shirt pocket, and was certain the one he had first seen in the tunnel. But the first quick glance showed him his fate was not to be revealed by it. It was merely a scrap of paper hurled from a train that had found lodgment in a crevice there to be picked up by him. On it was a date two or three years previous to this time which conclusively showeed it had nothing to do with him.

This was a blow to Sam. As he sat on the stone he began, for the first time, to think seriously of what he was doing and he began to realize how foolishly he had been acting. His conduct was worthy of the most untutored mind. Essentially he had been governed by the idea of luck, of fate, in fact, the chief motive was very near superstition. The action of his father, he began to realize, was that of an unbalanced mind, or else it was designed to wake him out of himself to a realization of how unprofitable his life was becoming—how vain his ambitions. His first thought was to try to get back to Asheville which was some thirty miles away but feeling that he would like to be alone for a time he decided against that.

With his mind made up to think out his problem like a man, he set off down the railroad track. He was sore and bruised and his foot

$100.00 S. S. Club

During the regime of Mr. Milton as treasurer of Presbyterian Orphan's Home he promoted the giving of the Sunday School by organizing club of different amounts which represented the giving of each Sunday School regularly to the Orpanage. The rules of these clubs excluded the Thanksgiving offerings and included the regular month by month checks of the Sunday School to the Home. This created a great deal of interest among the Sunday Schools who met the challenge of Mr. Milton and the last year Mr. Milton stayed at Presbyterian Orphans' Home showed the largest number of members of the club who had given a minimum of $100.00 on that year. The number that year was ninety members. This year the number has increased one and this year is ninety-one members. The highest club is the $600.00 club and the clubs range on down to the $100.00 Club.

I notice that serveral of those have advanced in their standings this year, however, Belmont and Rocky Mount First have advanced from the $400. to $500 club, Burlington First and Kings Mountain First from the $300. to the $400. Club, Durham First and Highland have advanced from the $200 to the $300.00 Club. The following have advanced from $100 to $200: Fayetteville First, Olney, Lincolnton First, Red Springs, Sunnyside, Elizabethtown, Laurinburg and Westminster (M). Seven churches dropped out of the $100. Club and eight new ones were added. The ones that have been added to the $100. Club are Howard Memorial, Antioch, Raleigh First, Commonwealth, Morven, Thomasboro, Mebane, and Warsaw.

hurt but he began to feel better as he trodged along—better both mentally and physically. He soon came to another tunnel which he recalled was a short one and ended near Andrews' Geyser. Being fond of nature he wanted to see the geyser again because of its sheer beauty and so decided to make that his objictive. In less than an hours time he was enjoying the beauty of this wonder of nature. The day was clear and cool and the sunlight in the spray made an ever changing rainbow. Seeing this he remembered the old saying that a pot of gold was at the end of a rainbow and how he had attempted to find it. He reflected that his action for the past 12 hours had not been much more sensible.

Now, however, he was begining to feel the pangs of hunger and began to wonder how he was to get his breakfast. Near the geyser serveral of the native mountaineers had enlarged their reede cabins in order to accomodate guests who wanted to get away from the city and society and have a vacation close to nature. There was excellent refreshments for those who wanted it and mountain climbing and beautiful scenery. Sam, therefore, thought he would see what he could do in the way of a breakfast for it was still early.

He took no time in reaching a cottage, the only one in sight of the geyser and in answer to his knock the man of the house came to the door and in accordance with the hospitality of the section asked him to have some breakfast as they were just sitting down to the table when he knocked.

In addition to the father, mother and two children there was a fifth person at the table, evidently a man on a vacation whose conversation was delightful. Sam felt he must have seen him somewhere at some time but he was unable to place him. Sam was charmed by the peace of this environment that he decided to stay for serveral days and pay for his bread and room by check for he still had a small sum on deposits in the Chapel Hill Bank.
